

CALL-FOR-INTERVIEWS

REAL SHOPPING STORIES NEEDED

- Teens Suing Eddie Bauer Drop 2nd Action: Two Store Guards Claim Vindication (Washington Post, August 19, 1997)
- Town, Mall Cleared in Suit: Man Said Rights Were Violated (Hartford Courant, Feb. 5, 1999)
- Police Chief Issues Apology To Teen-ager Accused of Theft Who Was Strip-Searched in Pharmacy Rest Room ([New London] Day, Dec. 12, 1999)
- Brutality Alleged as Man Dies in Mall Scuffle with Guards (The Detroit Free Press, June 24, 2000)
- Students Say Alabama Pub Discriminates (BIHE, Nov. 8, 2001)
- Ten Students Say They Were Asked to Leave a Store Because of Their Race ([Michigan] State News, November, 20, 2001)

HAVE YOU EVER HAD AN UNBELIEVABLE BUT TRUE SHOPPING EXPERIENCE? Professor Michelle Dunlap of Connecticut College is in the process of interviewing people of all ages and backgrounds about their unbelievable but true marketplace experiences for a book that she is writing on this topic. She also is collecting original poetry, lyrics, essays, art, cartoons, previously published items, etc. for possible inclusion in this book. If you have a story that you would like her to know about or other items that you would like to submit for possible inclusion in her book, please call (860) 439-2634 to arrange an interview or email her at michelle.dunlap@conncoll.edu.